

Abstract

A network-based program is provided for generating sleep inducing sounds at a user location. The program is accessed through a networked computer, web-based CRT, Palm Pilot, cellular telephone or pager. Alarm 5 clock or visual components are also optionally provided.

Approved for Release